Many have been asking: where is Card. Hlond, the Primate of Poland? What's the matter with him? Why hasn't he been heard from?

1 Well, while France was in the clutche of the Germans, he was kept prisoner at Lourdes. When the Germans began retreating before the Allied Armies, they took with them whatever they could that was of any value. And Card. Hlond, the primate of Poland, was too valuable and too dangerous to leave behind, so they took him along with them. He is now a prisoner in Germany.

made
The Germans/Card. Hlond a proposal that he return to Warsaw to head a National Polish Committee.

Here is the answer Card. Hlond gave to the Germans: You have not found a single traitor in Poland. You are mistaken if you think the Card. Primate would be the first.

3 And now birthday greetings to Mrs. Peter Tucker, who is the former Elizabeth Zakrzewski, for whom we play WESOLA ZOSIA POLKA - HAPPY SOPHIE.

In a sermon delivered during the Pontifical Mass of Requiem for the victims of Warsaw, at St. Patrick's Cathedral, NYC, the Very Rev. Msgr. J. H. Griffiths, chancellor of the Catholic Army and Navy diocese, said:

In this day when the eagles of Victory have settled on the standards of the United Nations, the cause of Poland is the cause of "ALL HUMANITY". If the White Eagle of Poland is now torn asunder, all humanity is torn asunder.

And now a musical welcome ~~to~~ for Technica Sgt. marine Jospeh B. Granich of Alsen, just back after 3 years overseas - CASABLANCA POLKA.

It might interest you to know that one of Poland's best friends in America, was recently decorated by Poland. And who is that? Why, Father Gannon, the President of Fordham U.

May we remind you that Father Gannon opened the doors of Fordham U. to the U. of Lublin by adopting it during Poland's most tragic hour.

And now a musical tribute To Fordham U and its brilliant and learned president Father Gannon: - WE SHOULD WORRY POLKA.

Let me read to you the appeal for aid for Warsaw's population made by Ladislaus Ban aczyk, Polish Minister of Home Affairs: QUOTE

At the moment when I am speaking the Germans are bringing the evacuation of Warsaw to an end. Homeless, without clothes, wounded and exhausted, Polish civilians were chased out of the ruins of Warsaw.

Old men, women and children, martyrs, shadows and skeletons are amrching away. The temporary victors are herding them to the concentration camp near Pruszkow.

The only hope of survival is hope from the outside. For this help, I now appeal to the world. I think that nobody has earned this help more than they have.

If this help is not given, hundreds of thousands will perish. Proof of this burnin necessity, is given by the fact that during the lastdays of fighting in Warsaw, when every gun and every cartridge, every drop of water, and e every bit of bread were priceless - Warsaw ap-pealed first and foremost for help for the expelled civillian population outside her ruins.

2 I repeat the appeal of my country - I am still quoting - They need it badly and believe in its coming. For they believe that the sacrifice of Warsaw, made by all its inhab-itants, was not in vain.

I appeal to the world for this action. I appeal in the name of liberty, in the name of Warsaw, which sacrificed everything for the ideals to which she swears allegiance. End of quote.

If this appeal has touched your heart strings, then ~~sand~~ your contribution - no matter how small or modest - to yours devotedly, marked POLISH RELIEF FUND, in care of this station WKNY or I.C. Church Kingston N.Y.

Here is Winston Churchill's tribute to Poland and especially to the heroes of Warsaw, extracted from his address before the House of Commons, Sept. 26th of this year:

I welcome the opportunity to pay tribute to the heroism and tenacity of the Polish Home Army and the population of Warsaw, who after five years of oppression yet fought nearly two months to contribute all in their power to the expulsion of the Germans from the capitol of Poland.
