Just to have you realize how the resolutions of the Yalta Conference stunned some of the Polish fighting men, the KAP of London reports QUOTE: In the first few days, after the pùblication of the Crimea r solutions, at least 30 Polish officers and men, veterans of Tobruk, Monte Cassino and ancona, committed suicide.

No doubt, these Polish veterans, fighting - on foreign soil - in this case - for Italy's liberation and freedom, despaired saying to themselves: What's the use. We are fighting and dying for peoples and countries who have let us down and betrayed us. we Honestly how would ~~you~~ feel, if that was your country and home? wouldn't ~~we~~ feel bitter?

Some countries that sided with Hitler, may ~~fare~~ fare better than Poland, the first country to fight.

Did You listen to the American Forum of the air last Tuesday evening? Too bad if you didn't.
We were startled to hear that Poland was to give up 40% of her territory whereas the monster, Hitlerite Germany was to lose only 15%. Is there no more justice in this world?

But now let's listen to Tabri Kantka -
